PRESS RELEASE

London Council for Adult Education 60th Anniversary & Awards Ceremony

The London Council for Adult Education is pleased to announce its 16th annual Adult Learners Awards Ceremony on Wednesday, May 4 at the Wolf Performance Hall of the London Public Library, Galleria London, at 3:00 p.m.

Nominees represent a wide array of member agencies: Centre for Lifelong Learning, Fanshawe College, Goodwill's Career Centre, Hutton House, London Unemployment Help Centre, Society for Learning in Retirement, Toastmasters, The University of Western Ontario, and the Wheable Centre for Adult Education.

"This year marks the 60th anniversary of our Council, and we are delighted to have the the Honorable Mary Anne Chambers, Minister of Training, Colleges and Universities for the Province of Ontario take part in our ceremony," says Donna Moore, Chair of the Council. The awards encourage adult learners from all walks of life and recognize a variety of educational programs. To qualify for the award, an individual must be currently enrolled in a recognized adult education program in London or area and be nominated by a Council member. "Academic achievement is not a requirement for the award; the nominee must demonstrate how education and training has affected them in a positive way", says Moore.

The awards ceremony was initiated in 1990 to honour the work of Mary Gee, longtime Executive Secretary of LCAE, and to celebrate the endeavours of learners in their member organizations. The purpose of the award is to recognize and acknowledge the efforts and contributions of adult learners as they enhance their own lives and communities through adult education..

LONDON COUNCIL FOR ADULT EDUCATION

The London Council for Adult Education held its annual Adult Learners Awards on Wednesday, May 4 in the Wolf Performance Hall of the London Public Library, Galleria at 3:00 p.m.

Nominees included individuals from the University of Western Ontario, Fanshawe College, and Hutton House.

Chair of the L.C.A.E., Donna Moore says that the awards help to encourage adult learners from "all different programs and walks of life." In order to qualify for the awards, an individual must be currently enrolled in any recognized adult education program, and be nominated by members of the L.C.A.E. Academic achievement is not a requirement for the award, but rather the nominee must "demonstrate how education and training has affected them in a positive way," says Moore.

The London Council for Adult Education was founded in 1945. This is their fifteenth annual Adult Learners Awards. The event was initiated in 1990 to honour the work of Mary Gee, longtime Executive Secretary of the L.C.A.E., and to celebrate the endeavours of learners in their member organizations. The purpose of the award is to recognize and acknowledge the efforts and contributions of learners for the enhancement of their lives through adult education.
